For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions
Dizziness of spirits
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of blood	Melancholy
Hysteric affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses	Pains in the limbs
Mind debility	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionables throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes from the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Hahn's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the numerous importance and respectability of which fully justify every article of this advertisement.

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints

I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 20 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me, No. 26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

PROFESSIONS AND PRACTICE.

The experience of men has in all ages and in all countries cast a thick shade of disrepute over the vauntings of philanthropists, the pretensions of trading politicians, and the professions of hot patriots. All observers of penetration and knowledge have regarded them as too false and hollow to be relied upon with safety, and as little better than what Shakspeare calls "springes to catch woodcocks." So continually have they been detected too, that one might reasonably suppose, if facts did not contradict the supposition, that the long-billed tribe itself, albeit little noted by naturalists for acuteness of discernment, must long since have been scared away, and that the very snipes and woodcocks of the human race would be ashamed to be cajoled by traps so clumsy, and baits so nauseous, so disgusting, so repulsive.

As may reasonably be expected when any particular plan has its foundation laid in falsehood, so it fares with those pretenders: their conduct (though on stated emergencies which demand studious attention they make their external actions square, for the short moment of effort, with their professions) is sure, the moment they wander from their guard, and resign themselves to the guidance of their own real dispositions, to be at variance with the fiction on which they build their system of imposture, and they are found to give up every virtue of which they make profession, to the correction of worldly prudence, and to the control of self and all its interests and appetites—aye even to its very fancies, however worthless or capricious:—thus their conduct, compared with their public professions, becomes such a harlequin's jacket of ill assorted patchwork, that it is astonishing how intelligent beings can be so bewildered with mental fog, as to believe any thing sincere can lurk under such a motley garb of tawdry inconsistency.

This sort of public cajolers is found bustling about every where—but more particularly where any office that depends upon popular favor solicits pursuit. Every new whim or caprice of the people is adopted by them with apparent frantic enthusiasm. The zeal of an old religionist in behalf of an exploded faith, or of a recent dissenter for some new fangled doctrine, cannot be more seemingly earnest than one of these officious tribe for the success of the thing he espouses; and if it can only be tortured into the possibility of an advantage to the country, oh! he is ready to die for it, and to trample down as an enemy to the country every one who has sagacity enough to doubt the value of the new object of Idolatry, and honesty enough to avow it.

One of the principal causes why those gasconading professions vary so essentially from the practice of them, is, that from their very nature, these professions are general—whereas the practice is particular. The one being every body's business, and therefore nobody's business, is never done; while the other being the business of but one, and that the dearest and most beloved of all others, SELF, is taken all possible care of. A small effort, made in a very short space of time, serves to "give out such a seeming as will seal the public eyes up close as oak;" that done, the redoubtable patriot turns round upon his heel, and with the blaze of patriotism still reflected, quite red, upon his back, goes off in pursuit of game more suited to his personal interest, without moulting one feather of his sincerity. This is the trick of every day, is every day detected, and (oh, poor human nature!) is every day successful. Let us suppose that home manufactures is the cry. One of those gentlemen who chooses to be distinguished as a brawling patriot, buys him a coat of cloth made on this side of the Atlantic—for fear it should be mistaken, gets it as coarse and as ill-dyed as possible—goes to a public dinner, makes a speech upon the national glory of home made cloth—refers to his coat—returns home, and next day having occasion to go to Philadelphia or New-York, bespeaks a new coat, and charges his tailor to take care, if he values his custom, not to impose American manufacture on him, by way of English.—"Look you, Master Snip, let it be of SHEPHERD's best blue, I charge you—for no other is worth the wearing." So of shoes—so of hats, our manufacture of which is excellent—so of cheese, for which its being excellent, nay its being made by English farmers, is an insufficient recommendation—"Why d—n it, it is but double the price, or very little more—and who would not pay that trifle extra for the difference between English and American cheese."

In the article of books too—the same flimsiness is discernible—those blustering citizens cannot hold their patriotism firmly to 'the sticking place.' An acquaintance of mine once offered to an eminent bookseller in the United States a novel for sale. The bookseller knew that one of his composition had gone thro' nine editions—one at least of which was printed in this country and sold well—but he refused; declaring that it would not take, if it had not the previous recommendation of being printed in England.—'What!' replied the other, 'not if you state in the title page that it is by the author of ————' which had at the time been a popular work.—'No, sir,' was the reply—'I would not take it for nothing, unless it were first printed in Great Britain.'

In all these cases, however, some reasonable motive might perhaps be assigned for the preference. He who preferred the English cloth might plead economy as a justification—and his only fault was in cajoling his fellow citizens for the purpose of gaining popularity—another might like the flavor of the English cheese best, or perhaps desire, (as is much the fashion with us) to show off his grandeur, by buying the dearest thing. But there is one way in which the appetite for every thing foreign carries us quite out of the course of national pride, patriotism, reason and sound sense, and this point I am led to by an accident that occured to me, in my closet, yesterday.

I was looking over a file of the National Intelligencer which I have been collecting for the last two years, and I was delighted and astonished at some of the speeches in congress, reported in that paper,—reported too as well as ever speeches were in our language. The speeches of Burke and Fox and Pitt, and Windham and Sheridan, in the British parliament, stand apart from all other eloquence, and therefore I will not endanger my opinion by comparing with them those of our orators—but, I will say that with the exception of these, the columns of the paper I speak of, present many specimens of senatorial eloquence fit to be put in competition with the best on English record. Nothing, with the exception already made, can surpass Grosvenor's and Calhoun's speeches on the compensation law—And in the last session, Mr. Lowndes's on internal improvement, in answer to Mr. Clay's about S. America, and Mr. Forsyth's on the same subject, need not shrink from a comparison with any in the British parliament. What a mass of eloquence then must be contained in the reports of preceding sessions, when to those were superadded the weighty, vigorous eloquence of Webster, and the classical accomplished oratory of Gaston and some others. Yet, wonderful to think, not a newspaper over the union copies them. This is not for want of room—no; for the editors are often at a loss for matter, and are fain to have recourse to old volumes of magazines for matter to fill up their columns. But see how taste and appetite lead—Mr Canning's speech and Mr. Canning's huff-bluff letter, and Mr. Phillips's stilted fustian, are circulated about like wildfire, while specimens of our national eloquence which would elevate us in the opinion of nations, are left for the chance of being heard of either at home or abroad, to the single paper that has the merit of reporting them.

This is, to say no worse of it, a great error—a strange oversight. Some of the speeches to which we allude ought to be introduced even in our school precepts, as pieces of established national eloquence. Besides, their subjects are of vital interest to the country, and radically concern every citizen to know—while the foreign trash preferred by our public caterers has nothing at all to do with the United States, and if in one instance it serves to amuse us with its wit and eccentricity—in the other can have no other tendency than to corrupt the taste of our youth, and divert us away from our own more important affairs, to foreign froth and balderdash.

From the 1st of January to the 1st of April, there have been one thousand one hundred white members added to the Methodist society in Baltimore.

The Catholic Bishop of Quebec, has sent two priests to the Red River, where they are to establish a permanent church, under the auspices of benevolent Catholics.

Capt. Obed Wright, who commanded the militia who attacked Chehaw, has been arrested by general Jackson; but having been released from custody on a writ of habeas corpus, was arrested by the governor of Georgia. This unfortunate affair will lead, we fear, to many unpleasant consequences; we cannot conceive, however, that the character of the state of Georgia will be stigmatized by this transaction, as one of the papers of that state apprehends. It is not possible that the people of Georgia can be blamed for what they have deprecated as strongly as the citizens of any other state in the union. [National Intelligencer.

A specimen of the native copper found on the south shores of Lake Superior, has been analysed at the mint of Utrecht.—The director gives it as his opinion, that the mass from which it was taken has undergone fusion by volcanic heat. Good times for Bachelors now; but better times for Girls coming.

By the last census, there are in the U. States 14,671 more females, than males, between the age of 26 and 16—but between 16 and 10 the males exceed the female 19,859—and of 10 years and under, the males also exceed the females 53,962. Girls will of course in a short time be in good demand, though the market appears to be well supplied at present.

Messrs Ballard & Wright—As the following paragraph from the Albany Argus, in relation to the capture of York, represents that important transaction in a more correct point of view than it has recently been given to the public under the imposing authority of "a History of the late War," and as the facts therein stated can be incontrovertibly substantiated, you are requested to give it a place in your paper. AN OFFICER.

BATTLE OF YORK.

I was recently perusing Breckenridge's history of the late war. In his account of the capture of York, he observes that "it was a brilliant achievement, and worthy of Pike, its projector." I have frequently seen this assertion made, and as truth is always desirable, perhaps the public may be gratified with an outline of the plan of the campaign of 1813, which opened brilliantly and terminated disastrously. On the 28th of February 1813, an express arrived from Gen'l. Macomb, commanding at Sackett's harbor, to the head quarters at Albany, bearing information that Sir George Provost had arrived at Kingston, that the troops were frequently seen to pass at Ogdensburg, and that our spies who had been at Kingston, were certain that a blow was meditated against Sackett's harbor. Corroboratory information had also been received from Colonel Pike,* commanding at Plattsburg. Gen. Dearborn immediately set out for the harbor, and arrived in about 48 hours, having rode by relays: colonel Pike had been previously ordered to the harbor, with his regiment, and the militia had been called in. Sir George hearing of the arrival of the commander in chief, gave up the enterprise. After the ice had become so weak as to banish all apprehensions of an attack, general Dearborn concerted a design on York, with comm Chauncey, as soon as the bay should be clear of ice. Pike had not then arrived. When he arrived the plan was unfolded to him, and at his earnest request the active command of the forces was assigned to him. It was the intention then of general Dearborn to proceed himself to Niagara, and wait the arrival of Pike from York; but afterwards being fearful least some difficulty or jealousy between the land and naval forces, who had never acted in concert, might arise, he determined to accompany the expedition: the result is well known. The enterprising and gallant Pike died, like Wolfe, in the arms of victory.

* He received a commission of brigadier general a few weeks afterwards.

From the Westchester N. York Herald.

SINGULAR PHENOMENON.

Some time last week Mr. John Lacock of this place, a gentleman of undoubted integrity and veracity, while splitting a cedar tree into quarters for posts, discovered in the heart of it a living toad, about half grown—the cavity in which it was lodged was but merely large enough to contain it, and there was not even the smallest communication from the cavity for the circulation of any air; the tree was perfectly solid and from its size is supposed to be of twenty or thirty years growth.—As soon as the tree was quartered, the toad (conscious of having its liberty) instantly leaped from its confinement and still lives. Similar instances have been reported, but whether in consequence of the reality of such a phenomenon having been doubted or for some other cause, we know not; nor have we seen the opinion of any Naturalist, accounting for the possibility of a toad's getting into a solid piece of wood, or how it can exist while there. Should any one be pleased to furnish a communication upon the subject it will no doubt afford a great satisfaction to the curious.

From the New-York Columbian.

CURIOSITIES.

A person on reading an article extracted from the Westchester Herald, relative to a toad being found in the solid part of a cedar, called at this office and related the following circumstance:

17 years ago he (the informant) was digging a well at Newburg, and after digging through five feet of earth, and blasting through eleven feet of slate rock, a small living turtle nearly the size and about the thickness of a dollar was found. It was very soft, but on exposure to the air soon became hard, and was delivered to John Dewint, esq. of Fishkill. On relating this to a gentleman he expressed no surprise, but stated a fact which he said was well authenticated—that a person who had marble jambs to his house, often heard the croaking of a toad, whenever the fire became warm; and at length was induced to take out the piece, and on breaking it discovered a living toad closely bedded in the marble.

THE FAMISHED ARAB.

An Arab, wandered in the desart, had not eat for two days, and saw himself on the point of perishing for hunger. In passing near one of those wells where the caravans stop to water their camels, he saw on the sand a small leathern bag he took it up; he felt it; "Alla be praised, said he, I believe it is dates or nuts." Full of this delightful expectation, he hastened to open the bag; but at the sight of its contents, "Alas (cried he, in a sorrowful accent) it is nothing but pearls."

FOREIGN NEWS.

[From English papers to 2d May, received at the office of the New-York Daily Advertiser.]

Private letters from Liverpool, dated the 1st May, give but little alteration in the markets—Flour 48 a 50, dull—importations from the Baltic, and the United States had glutted the market.

Cotton rather more brisk, but no advance in prices.

The King of Sweden is to be crowned in the beginning of May. The coronation medal will bear the motto—"the people's love, my reward."

According to an official list, there were burnt, in Russia, after the retreat of the French, the corpses of 243,612 men, and of 123,142 horse.

Hon. Walter Chetwynd Talbot, son of Lord Lieutenant and Countess Talbot, died at Dublin Castle, on the 20th April.

The latest intelligence from Bonaparte states that he still confined himself to his house, refusing to see visitors. His health impaired.

The 35th regiment had been placed under orders to embark for Quebec.

An article from Dresden, states that all the fortifications erected by Bonaparte on the right bank of the Elbe, have been demolished.

The pirates who plundered the Brazil packet, on her passage to London, obtained about 6,000 dollars in specie, and jewels to a considerable amount—The captain had taken the precaution to sink the mail.

Prince Leopold was about setting out on his tour to the continent.

The British parliament were engaged on a project further to ameliorate the condition of slaves in the West Indies. The subject was introduced by Mr. Wilberforce; and some interesting facts are given which we shall publish hereafter.

There was a demand at Liverpool for British seamen—wages had advanced from 40 to 860 per month.

A London paper of the 28th of April in speaking of the French affairs observes "that the trial of the murderers of M. Fualdes, has kept pace with the Budget, and the two are so inseparably in our minds, that we do not imagine we shall ever hear of one without remembering the other. This murder is the most atrocious, we have any record of. The deliberate extension of the living body of Fualdes upon a table; the holding him with his face downwards, and his throat bare, over a pail; the cutting his throat, and receiving the blood in the vessel, that the floor might not be stained; the carrying out the body to throw it into a river, and the emptying of the pail upon an adjoining dunghill, are all so many horrible circumstances, to which the annals of our criminal trials can produce no parallel, and altogether compose a murder worthy of the most energetic days of revolutionary France. One still more horrible circumstance, indeed, we have omitted in the above enumeration, namely, that the woman who held the pail, stirred up the blood with her hands, lest it should become clotted, and might not pour so clean from the wood. The burning alive of the Lynch family in Ireland, and the adding more straw to the flames in proportion as the screams of the women and children were heard, is the only suitable parallel; but it does not appear that any women were concerned in this transaction. By what we can understand of the evidence, Madame Manson, who was in the house upon some intrigue, was discovered and brought from a remote chamber by Bastide, who to render all secure, was about to murder her upon the spot, but was prevented by Jausion, who exacted from her an oath of secrecy. Gratitude to Jausion, as her deliverer, has given the character of mystery to her evidence, whilst Bastide, seeing the motive of her silence, and presuming too far upon it, dares her to the discovery, and insinuates his own innocence upon her silence.

LONDON, April 27.

While there were about thirty or forty of the most daring demagogues, in safe custody, and while the Suspension Act remained in force, no direct attempts were made to disturb the tranquility of the kingdom, by inflammatory appeals to assemblies of the lower classes.

No sooner, however, were the former released, and the latter repealed, than we again heard the voice of sedition; and now, as the following notice will prove, we are threatened with another Spa Fields tumult;—

"THE RIGHTS OF BRITONS."

"A meeting of the Disfranchised Inhabitants of Middlesex, agreeable to public advertisement, will take place on Monday, May 4, 1818, in Spa Fields, at 12 o'clock at noon, to petition the Prince Regent to take into his consideration the sufferings of the laboring people, the approxing state of all industrious persons (not having entailed property) towards the same condition, and the necessity of some speedy relief founded on the Rights of Man; the advantages which would result from his promoting a parliamentary reform, annual parliaments, universal suffrage, and vote by Ballot; for supporting the social and civilized rights of laborers throughout the three kingdoms; from whom proceeds the splendor, luxury, and good enjoyed by Kings, Priests, and Nobles; for using his influence to redress prevailing wrongs, and thereby add to the security of the crown and its glory.

LONDON, April 29.

The Paris papers of the 26th instant, which arrived this morning, are of great importance. They contain an official announcement of the approaching evacuation of the French territory by the allied army, of the financial means provided for carrying it into effect, and of the speedy meeting of the allied Sovereigns, for the purpose of fixing the precise time, and other preparatory circumstances. The sum required for the final liquidation of the claims of foreign powers is reduced from sixteen hundred million of francs (about 66,665,600l sterling), the amount of the original demand, to three hundred and twenty millions eight hundred thousand francs.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

Fan-Sash Making

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terez or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions
Lowness of spirits
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of b'ood	Melancholy
Hysteric affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses and debility	Pains in the limbs

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
